

1. Discuss the contribution of structuralism to the birth of present-day psychology.
2. With reference to practical examples, explain how imbalances in neurotransmitters can influence human behaviour.
3. Explain how you would employ behavioural techniques in dealing with a social work student who is into drug and substance abuse.
4. Compare and contrast any two theories of forgetting and suggest ways of enhancing memory.
5. As a social worker providing career guidance services at WUA, advise a graduate in psychology on any five applied fields of psychology that he can venture into and the roles he will be performing as a psychologist in those fields.